TOURIST SEASON SOON TO OPEN

First Large Party will Arrive here
Second Week in April. Many Bookings for Spring and Early Summer. The Dates.

Gettysburg's summer tourist season will open on April 13 when a large party from New England traveling as the Mansfield and Marsters tours will visit town. This is a semi annual event and the tours always go from Gettysburg to Washington.

The latter part of April or the first week in May the West Point Seniors will come to Gettysburg. In the past their stay has covered only three days
but the present plan has a trip to Antietam included this year and the Gettysburg stay will be extended one more day. The exact date has not been announced.

From May seventh to ninth the Massachusetts Commandery of the Loyal Legion will be in Gettysburg, taking in the battlefield and several other points in this section on their southern tour.

From May 25 to 27 a Pennsylvania railroad tour will be in Gettysburg on a trip including Washington and other nearby points.

The first week in June will be taken up with the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which also includes the two women's auxiliaries and brings one of the best crowds of the year to the town.

The Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry
will have a reunion here from June 12 to 15 and from June 13 to 16 a detachment of forty officers from the Army War College at Washington
will be in Gettysburg. The War College will not camp as in former years but will stop at the Eagle Hotel. A banquet will be one of the events of their trip to Gettysburg.

The Democratic national convention at Baltimore in June is expected to send hundreds of visitors to Gettysburg for it will be an unusual opportunity for western people to visit the battlefield with little extra cost. The Church of the Brethren conference in York in May will also contribute a large share of Gettysburg visitors and the early part of the summer is exceedingly promising.

A number of fall bookings are expected and the year looks most favorable. The state convention of the Order of Independent Americans will be held here in September, the National Guard encampment is confidently hoped for and the Chautauqua and Lutheran Summer Assembly will add their share to the business of the Summer months.

SEVERELY SHOCKED

Harry Cunningham sustained a severe electrical shock Tuesday evening near the Seminary. A tree had been felled near the refectory and dropped across the wires tangling them badly. Mr. Cunningham in trying to straighten them out used a wet rope. He was shocked and fell on the live wires. Irvin Reynolds who was there at the time pulled him off, preventing fatal injuries. As it was Mr. Cunningham had his knees badly burned and was unconscious for several minutes.

URGING SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE

Sunday School Base Ball League, a Popular Institution Three Years ago, to be Revived. Will Play Series of Games.

Gettysburg's base ball fans have started agitation for a Sunday School base ball league similar to the popular institution of two years ago. A meeting for organization is to be held soon when officers will be elected and the general plan mapped out.

It will be recalled that for three months in the summer of 1910 the league remained in existence and provided about as much amusement in the summer evenings as anything the town has ever produced. Keen rivalry arose among the various Sunday Schools of the town and several good teams were in the field. The games were well attended and the collections taken more than supported the sport, a balance of between twenty five and thirty dollars remaining in the treasury at the close of the season.

An early start is planned for this summer's series and it is probable that the first games will be played early in June. The Prep campus will be used until the close of college and then Nixon Field, if permission can be secured to have the games played there.

Representatives from each Sunday School in town will be asked to attend the meeting soon to be called and it is believed that fully as successful a season as that of 1910 can be arranged.

AS TO PRIMARY BALLOTS

Judge Reid of Allegheny County has ordered the county commissioners of that county to place the presidential preferences after the names of candidates to the state convention, who desire the names so printed.

On the other hand the county commissioners of Philadelphia County have refused to print the preferences
under the names on the ballots.

In Adams County the preference for president in the case of delegates to the state convention will not be printed on the ballots. National delegate and alternate candidates will have their preference printed when so desired.

The commissioners of Franklin county have not yet made any decision in the matter. From other places the case has been appealed to the Supreme Court.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY

Gettysburg people have an unusual treat offered them for this evening when Hamilton Holt, prominent in the movement in this country for universal peace, will lecture in Broad Chapel on
"The World's Peace." Mr. Holt has been identified with numerous conferences looking toward the establishment of international peace and is in close touch with the movement. As editor of the New York "Independent" he is known to many Gettysburgians.
His lecture on "The World's Peace" has been given by him in about thirty universities and college towns and local people have an unusual opportunity offered them. No admission will be charged and the people of town are cordially invited to attend. Eight o'clock is the hour.

FARMERS' TRAIN AT LITTLESTOWN

Littlestown Receives Visit of Agricultural Experts with Attendance of Representative Farmers who Hear Lectures.

The Pennsylvania Railroad State College special—a farmers institute on wheels—visited Littlestown Wednesday afternoon and farmers of that section heard a number of topics discus-ed by experts before the train proceeded on its way.

The six lecturers, who are rated as among the most expert in the state when dealing with the subjects which they had to discuss, were: Prof. Alva Agee, who talked on "Lime" and
"Alfalfa;" Prof. R. L. Watts,
"Market Gardening" and "Orchard-ing;" Prof. W. A. Coebel, "Beef and Swine Production;" M. S. Mc-Dowell, "Soil Fertility;" C. F. Noll,
"Seed Corn Selection;" and H.
E. VanNorman, "Dairy Cattle Feeding."

In the talk on corn the speaker said that seed corn should be purchased in the ear so the buyer can see if it is as represented in regard to type, size and uniformity. It should have been grown on soil and under climatic conditions similar to those surrounding the purchaser. Farmers should not send far away for seed corn, he said.
He then went on to discuss the methods of selecting seed, caring for it,
the germination test and preparation for planting.

Orchardists were cautioned against planting too many varieties of apples and the speaker suggested that potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes or peas be planted between the trees as a cultivator. In cultivating the new orchards should be ploughed deep and the old ones shallow.

Prof. Watts, who discussed orchard-ing devoted most of his time to a discussion of apples, their care and marketing. He said that Stayman Winesap was probably the best apple that could be planted in this section with York Imperial and Grimes' Golden ranking second and third, respectively. The speaker emphasized the importance of selecting good hardy trees for planting and of caring for them constantly and trimming and cultivating the ground around them.
He said that trees should be planted about 30 feet apart and that the fall
was the best time for setting them out. They may be planted early in the spring, the earlier the better.

At Littlestown among those present were S. J. Seifert, J. Cratin G. J.
McLaughlin, Jacob Feiser, Peter
Cereker, G. H. Keeny, H. Winter-
meyer, G. W. Bowers, L. A. Wherley,

Chautauqua in the East." This statement was made on Tuesday evening at Mechanicsburg by George H. Turner, assistant manager of the Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania who was in that town in connection with an effort to establish an event similar to the Gettysburg Chautauqua. Mechanicsburg, Hanover and other town idea while Gettysburg is run more or less independent of any such arrangement. Mr. Turner was for some time manager of the old Salem Chautauqua

COUNTY SCHOOLS ARE CLOSING

Rural Schools in Adams County Finishing their Term of Seven Months. Majority will Finish
Work this Week.

The school term is drawing rapidly
to a close for the children of the county and by the end of next week very few of the seven months schools will be open.

Several of the schools which opened their term on August 30 closed last Friday for the year. The majority of the terms end on Friday of this week
while several do not finish their work until next week. One or two schools were closed on account of the sickness of the teacher for more than a week and these will remain open until the second week in April when they too will close and the borough schools will be the only ones open for work.

Fairfield is the only high school having a seven months term and their commencement is on Wednesday, April
3. Gettysburg, Littlestown and Mc-Sherrystown have nine months' terms in the high schools and all the rest of the county high schools have eight months.

County Superintendent Roth is busy furnishing certificates for perfect attendance. Every pupil who was present every day for a month or more gets a small certificate, those present every day in the term get a more elaborate one while those holding certificates for three years perfect attendance receive quite a fancy diploma. Last year 800 Adams County School children were present every day during the entire term and already this year several hundred certificates have been sent out and Prof. Roth expects the number to go ahead of any previous record.

STRUCK WITH 2200 VOLTS

News has been received in York
Springs of an accident that befell A.
C. Gardner, Jr., last week at Avon, N. Y. Mr. Gardner is one of the office men in the employ of Quiney W.
Hershey, president of the trolley road
in that live New York town, and when the word came in that one of the wires was broken back of the Opera House, he (Gardner), could not locate any of the linemen and attempted to fix the break himself. He was up on a pole trying to mend the break when he touched a live wire and had the sensation of having a 2200 voltage pass through his system. The shock threw him to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet while suffering considerably from the terrible shock he is reported improving and will be all right again in a couple of weeks.

HAND INJURED

W. L. Forney met with a very serious accident in which his arm was badly injured at Forney's sanatorium, on the South Mountain, near the White Pine camp Tuesday morning.

The accident may cause the amputation of the injured arm. When the accident occurred Mr. Forney was working about his gasoline engine and in some manner the hand was caught and drawn into the gearing. The index finger was cut off and the rest of the hand was badly lacerated and contused. A resident surgeon dressed the wounds.

JOHN ARBUCKLE.
Coffee Magnate Who Died In Brooklyn.

JOHN ARBUCKLE PASSES AWAY

Coffee and Sugar Magnate Dies in Brooklyn.

New York, March 28. — John Arbuckle, coffee and sugar magnate, died at his home in Brooklyn. He was seventy-four years old.
Death was due to a general collapse incident to old age and an injury received by Mr. Arbuckle nearly a year ago. Mr. Arbuckle had been ill several weeks.
Mr. Arbuckle, with his brother, the late Charles Arbuckle, established the firm of Arbuckle Brothers in 1871. They introduced on a large scale the roasting of coffee and the sale of coffee in packages, and the firm gradually became the largest of its kind in the United States.
John Arbuckle, in addition to importing coffee, became a large importer of raw sugar. In later years he affiliated himself as director with a number of financial institutions, among them the Importers' and Traders' bank, Lawyers' Title Insurance and Trust company, Mortgage Bond Company of New York and the Kings County Trust company.
Mr. Arbuckle was also interested in live stock and owned several ranches in Wyoming. He was also president of the Royal Horse association.
It is estimated that Mr. Arbuckle's wealth was over $50,000,000.

PREPARE FOR MINE STRIKE

Panther Creek Valley Expects Long Siege, With Violence.
Tamaqua, Pa., March 28. — The southern anthracite region is settling itself down to a suspension of work at the mines, with the possibility of a strike and the usual attending violence.
In the Panther Creek Valley, where the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company operates fourteen collieries, active preparations are being made for a long siege. This company worked some of its mines in 1900 and in 1902, and the indications are that it expects to do the same thing this year. An order has been placed by the company for 10,000 cots. Several months ago high fences were built around all of the collieries.
The mine workers' union is more strongly organized in the Panther Creek Valley than in any other portion of the valley.

DEMAND CUT IN WOOL DUTY
House Democrats Score the Tariff Board.

SAY REPORT IS INCORRECT

Declare the Theory of Costs Is Erroneous and Untenable and the Findings Fragmentary.

Washington, March 28. — The report of the ways and means committee on the Democratic wool bill was submitted to the house by Chairman Underwood.
The feature of this document, which is signed by the majority members of the committee, is the attack which it contains on the president's tariff board.
The report of the tariff board on the wool schedule is characterized as "fragmentary, incomplete, incorrect, diffuse, unsympathetic and insignificant."
In brief, the report says that the tariff board's work is useless as a basis for determining duties. The theory on which the board based its findings is scored as "erroneous and untenable." The committee says that there is such variation in the cost of production in every country that it is impossible to compare in absolute terms the productive power of one country with another, and so it concludes the findings of the tariff board are impertinent to the matter of fixing duties and useless.

Saying that the Democratic wool bill is identical, except for a few insignificant details, with that presented at the extra session of congress last year, which was vetoed by the president, the committee's report says that an analysis of the tariff board's report fails to disclose anything in which the bill is defective. Rejecting the board's theory, it declares that costs of production that have any meaning or use are "not ascertainable or obtainable."
Inasmuch as the report submitted may be correctly held to express the Democratic attitude toward the tariff board, to which the majority is opposed in theory as well as in practice, it is considered the most important tariff document that is likely to be produced by the Democrats this session. The report consists of seventy-three printed pages and goes with minute detail into every paragraph of the wool schedule with relation to the tariff board's report and to the statistics gathered by the ways and means committee during last summer's special session.

"The tariff board's report," says the committee, "is fragmentary and incomplete, and rests upon an incorrect statistical basis. Hence it has no claims to confidence for the results set forth therein, even should the reliability of the theory of the cost of production be conceded."
"Those persons who are willing to overlook the lack of theoretical soundness and of statistical accuracy will find the data of the report too fragmentary and incomplete to admit of conclusions with reference to rates of tariff duty. Even under the most favorable interpretation of the report, conclusions as to duties can be reached for only a few paragraphs of the wool schedule, and for these paragraphs it is not possible to formulate definite conclusions, because the figures vary widely and seriously lack uniformity and comparability. So much is this the case that justification is apparently afforded in the report for rates that are in conflict with one another. It is thus seen that the report leaves the question of the tariff duties on wool as much unresolved as before the tariff board was formed."
The minority members declare they have framed and introduced a wool bill based upon the tariff board's report and have endeavored to adjust the rates in accordance with the doctrine of protection by prescribing a duty equivalent to the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad as found by the tariff board.

WOULD CHANGE LAND LAWS

Exodus of Farmers to Canada Stirs Congressmen.

Washington, March 28. — The sum of $125,000,000 was taken to Canada in 1910 by 125,000 Americans who were attracted to various provinces of the Dominion by lands that were procured practically for the asking.
Iowa and other states of the northwest declined in population or failed to show normal increases in the decade between 1900 and 1910. Western members contend that this condition of affairs is directly traceable to the more liberal laws governing the disposal of the public domain in the Dominion.

This argument was used in behalf of a bill passed by the house governing the disposal of the public domain in the United States. The measure, which has already passed the senate, will soon be submitted to the president for approval.

The bill in a large measure is patterned after the land laws of Canada. In the first place, it reduces the residence required on the American homestead from five to three years. Second, it permits an entryman and his family to be absent from a homestead five months during each year of the residence period.

The opinion was expressed that the bill put through the house would check the tremendous exodus of farmers to Canada and possibly encourage the return of some of them to this country.

FEDERALS RENEW ATTACK ON REBELS

Latter Are Confident of Another Victory.

Jimenez, Chihuahua, Mex., March 28. — Dejected and driven off from Jimenez by the rebels, General Truicy Aubert rallied his federal command and returned to the fight. The fighting was at long range, cannons being used principally.

The rebels have the idea that General Aubert does not know of the utter defeat and rout of Generals Salas and Blanquet on Sunday, and that he thinks he is preventing rebel reinforcements going south, while Blanquet and Salas are fighting their way north.

The rebels express confidence of being able to capture Aubert, as his return to the fight gives the rebel command of Campa at Corralitos time to come north and help to surround him. Aubert is outnumbered about two to one by the rebel forces now in this district.

The battle around Jimenez, in which the federals were repulsed, was mostly an artillery duel. The rebels lost only five killed and fifteen wounded. The loss of the federals is unknown. Just outside Jimenez the rebel outposts found a group of dean peons who had been unexpectably mutilated, presumably by federals.

TURKS REPORT VICTORY

Say They Have Beaten Italian Army In Tripoli With Loss of 3500.

London, March 28. — The Turkish army in Tripoli has achieved a great victory over the Italian army, whose losses were twenty-seven officers and 3500 men killed and wounded, according to the report of the Turkish commander at Benghazi, received here from a special correspondent at the Turkish headquarters.

The scene of the battle is not given in the report, which says that the entire camp equipment of the Italians fell into the hands of the Turkish troops.
The Turkish commander says that the casualties among the Turks and Arabs numbered only 150 killed and wounded.

THE MEANEST SOUND THAT'S HEARD.

How oft within the still night
That tomcat yells from the back fence!
I throw a brickbat at his skull.
Constrain him quick to hush hence!
He quiets, then, like Caesar's ghost,
He will not down; but, with a yowl,
He snorts and hisses, cat-a-wauls
And makes of night a hideous howl.
And there's the bound that never sleeps.
A cavernous moving mouth is he.
"How-wowl! Ki-yi!" I fire a gun.
He how-wows back; he thinks its fun.
I throw the bed slats at his head,
I swear till all is lurid red,
I yell till I'm exhausted quite,
Yet that bound howls till morning light.
But what are such to human woes,
The grouchy glooms that growl around?
The pessimist with mournful mouth.
The knocker with his rasping sound—
Beside such cats are nightingales;
Beside such Towse's a sweet bird.
Yes, pessimistic, knocking cuss,
You make the meanest sound that's heard.
C. M. BARNITZ.

THE PERIOD OF INCUBATION.

Broody Biddy is apt to fool us by hatching her eggs before or after the date set. Though a hen generally finishes her hatch the twenty-first day, the condition of hen or eggs or weather may vary the time. We have known eggs to hatch the eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first and even on the twenty-fourth day. A hot blooded hen that sits tight on strongly fertilized fresh eggs often finishes on the eighteenth. A hen of low hatching heat hatches late, and though the eggs are strong her chicks may be weak. A fussy hen that goes off and on and neglects her eggs may retard her chicks to the twenty-fourth. Extremes of temperature often affect the time of hatching, heat hastening, cold retarding the chick. We believe incubation may be suspended without injuring the germ.
English fanciers guarantee all eggs in a setting fertile. They place them under heat just long enough to see the germ, test out infertiles, then ship. We have reset eggs deserted by hens for several days, and they hatched well. Through accident to an incubator 200 eggs were away from hatching heat for thirty hours. They were kept covered, reset and 100 chicks hatched one day behind time.
We mention this so you may not rush to throw out eggs that do not hatch on the minute. Though circumstances may cause occasional variation, each breed of fowls has its period of incubation, the following table being considered standard for the species mentioned:

Days	Days
Chickens..... 21	Turkey..... 28
Guinea..... 25	Peafowl..... 28
Goose..... 30	Pheasant..... 28
Duck..... 28	Partridge..... 24

FEATHERS AND EGG SHELLS.

Duck yards should be scraped often. Wet weather soaks them up and the white ducks puddle, and how filthy they get and, oh, what a smell! "Nuf sed."

Aniline dye instead of eggs is being used in Philadelphia to give cakes that pretty yellow color. Yes; the fools and the deep dyed villains aren't all dead yet.

Butter and eggs naturally go together, and poultry and dairy go so well together that many are combining the two. With bees and fruit added there's a bonnie bonanza.

A butcher of San Francisco swallowed fifty-four eggs in 186 seconds and won $100. Then he took two drinks of whisky and resumed his butchering. That sure beats the Old Nick.

Cock fights, dog fights and bull fights are now under the ban in the Panama canal zone. Think of $50 fine or jail for fighting roosters! This new law spoils another good market for gamecock breeders.

There are some markets where there are but few calls for ducks. It's not wise to dress a whole stack of ducks and then have to haul them back home. Better take a crate of live ducks to market and test the demand.

Cuba and South America are the market for gamecocks. Enthusiasts find it pays much better to breed and ship these fighting birds than to fight signs in this country and get fined and have their names in the newspapers.

In buying that new gobbler don't go to a neighbor, but buy far away from home. On many farms turkeys are related unknown to their owners. They travel so far and are often out of sight so long and often there is a general mixup.

The appetite is the signboard to digestion both in man and hen, and the quantity to feed a duck must be judged by the way the hens go for the feed. Breeds differ in the quantity they eat, and the same flock on different days does not always require the same quantity.

We asked a farmer's wife who was dressing a hen how she could tell a healthy chicken. She replied that she always kills the hen that's laying—that it is always healthy. This is not at all ways true, and if it was, killing layers is bad policy, for "the hen that lays is the hen that pays."

When a York (Pa.) belfry was entered it was found almost filled with sparrows' nests, and almost a wagon load was thrown out, and, oh, the feathers! Those measly little sparrows had gathered up pounds and pounds of feathers that wasteful people had thrown out. Go thou and do likewise.

A black and white Homing pigeon, band numbered 017,759, was captured in a Bristol (Pa.) yard where it alighted for rest. An old clock, mistaking the pigeon for a hawk, was fighting the third bird when it was rescued. Stray fowls should always be advertised. It's brotherly and also the law.

THE VALUABLE ANGORA.

American Demand For Mohair Greatly Exceeds the Supply.

In the mountainous regions of Asia, Turkey is the ancient city of Angora, celebrated for the long haired goats bred in that vicinity. Here Angoras, the most valuable of all breeds of goats, reaches its perfection. The fineness of its hair and the remarkable fact that many other animals in that region possess long, silky hair has been ascribed by some authorities to some peculiarity in the atmosphere, the altitude or soil.

At the present time there are in the United States between 300,000 and 400,000 Angoras of pure blood or high strain, and yet the domestic product of mohair does not equal the home demand by a large amount. Many dollars' worth of mohair is imported annually into the United States, and still in Texas alone there is sufficient mountain land to raise not only all the mohair now imported, but enough to export several million dollars' worth annually, says Farm and Ranch.

There are four profits to the Angora—the mohair, the increase, the fertilizer and the land they free from brush and weeds. There is a wide difference between the shearing weight and the shearing value of goats. Some will shear as much as fifteen pounds of mohair per year, but the Valued chiefly for their fleece, known to commerce as mohair, the Angora goat is also valuable for its meat, which is claimed to be equal to the finest mutton, and is especially valuable and useful for its browsing qualities in clearing up undergrowth and brush. The flesh of Angoras that have fed upon brush, their natural food, it is claimed, possesses a peculiarly gamey flavor highly prized by epicures. Pasha V., the Angora buck pictured, is owned by C. P. Bailey & Sons, Texas.

Average for the United States is about two and one-half pounds. Some mohair brings as much as $6.50 per pound, but the average is about 35 cents per pound. Mohair ranging from twelve inches to twenty inches in length brings from $3 to $6.50 per pound and is used to make dolls' hair and wigs.

Mohair under twelve inches in length is sold according to fineness and luster and ranges in price from 35 to 55 cents per pound. The average shearing value of the American Angora is about $1 per head, but there is more money in an Angora shearing $1 per head than in a sheep shearing $1.50 per head, because the goat is longer lived, is much harder, is not liable to disease, the goat eats a greater variety of feed, will come to the sheds at night and have many advantages over the sheep.

THE FLOCK MASTER.

Poorly fed sheep will not produce very good wool nor good mutton.

Do not attempt to winter more sheep than can be done without crowding.

Sheep are comfort lovers, and the man who neglects to provide them with good, dry shelter makes a costly error.

Ewes that are broad and long will make good mothers and produce vigorous offspring. In this way lambs of a better type will be produced.

In yarding sheep don't forget a constant supply of good fresh water and rock salt is a necessity; also plenty of good fresh bedding and always a dry lair.

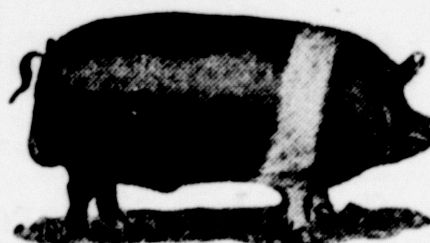

THE HAMPSHIRE HOG.

Breed Noted For Hardiness and Powers of Reproduction.

The Hampshire hog first attracted my attention at the International 1904, writes an Iowa farmer in American Agriculturist. Six years' experience in breeding and feeding these hogs has convinced me that they possess many strong points of superiority over other breeds. The increasing attention they are now attracting at all the big shows and expositions of the country indicates that the Hampshire is the coming hog. They are by far more vigorous and uniformly healthy than any other breed with which I am acquainted. They are the most prolific breeders, bearing more litters and larger ones than sows of other breeds.

While Hampshires never attain the enormous size of the Poland China and other breeds, they often weigh more than 600 pounds and sometimes over 700 pounds. Certain it is that the flesh they do have is all quality, and they kill out on an average of more than 5 per cent better than other breeds and therefore bring from 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds more with the packers. The cost of feeding them is always less than in feeding other breeds because the Hampshires are the best rustlers in the bunch and pick up quantities of just the feed that they are looking for.

I think it is unquestionably true that the better known breeds in the corn belt lack constitutional vigor. This condition is brought on by inbreeding, overfeeding and close confinement. Their vitality is low, they do not resist disease, and it is not uncommon to see a 400 pound sow with twins or triplets for a litter. As a hog possessing all the hardiness, vitality and pro-

Hampshire hogs are noted for hardiness and vitality. They are the ideal swine for general ranch use because they are symmetrical, docile, prolific, early maturing and easily fattened. They outnumbered every other variety shown at the recent Chicago exposition, and a Hampshire won the carcass championship. In size of litters this breed ranks away up, for it is quite common for a gilt to have from nine to eleven pigs and raise them all. The older sows have from nine to fifteen or more. The sows are especially good mothers, are very seldom cross or ill and generally raise a large per cent of their pigs. The Hampshire hog shown was a prize winner last fall.

Efficiency of the unrestrained muscular animal of pioneer days and equaling any other breed for smooth finish, docility, early maturing and fattening qualities I claim the Hampshires as ideal.

In form, color and carriage they are the most attractive of all breeds. The most fashionable color and the one most closely identified with the name is black, with a wide white belt extending around the body, including the front legs. In some localities, however, they are bred entirely black. Among other characteristics they have small heads, ears of medium length and slightly inclining forward, light jowl, broad back of nearly uniform width, slightly arched, heavy hams, active and muscular and devoid of excess of bone.

Most excellent results are accomplished by crossing this breed with the larger Poland China or Duroc.

Value of the Pure Breed.
Can any one estimate the value brought to a community by the use of a good stallion? The increased usefulness of the colts and their more ready saleability are not the only gains. A good stallion improves the horse stock of the farm side, but he also improves the men. Every owner takes pride in a good horse, and a good horse is impossible without a good sire. A good sire is impossible without an appreciation on the part of mankind. Pure bred live stock is an educator and is worth its cost and keep for its influence upon the boys and girls if for no other purpose.—Kansas Farmer.

A Feeding Suggestion.

A good deal of risk would be avoided by the judicious use of a little hay or alfalfa in the cattle sheds each morning before the animals go on to the stock fields, and after they have cleaned up the best of the grain and fodder in the fields the hay, with some grain, is necessary. It is all right to rough them through, but don't be too rough.

I. R. DENOUNCES N. Y. PRIMARIES

Declares Voters Were Intimidated at Polls.

CALLS IT CRIMINAL FARCE

Colonel Makes a Bitter and Angry Attack on Men Back of It and at Taft Forces.

Chicago, March 28.—The first day of Theodore Roosevelt's western campaign trip was one big outcry by the colonel and the Roosevelt forces against the bosses and a wall against their criminally conducted primaries.

"If they play with marked cards it doesn't go," stormed the colonel in one of his train-end sallies. "If the people on a fair vote are against me, all right, but I object to being cheated out of it by the bosses."

Colonel Roosevelt himself was in full fighting trim; he was fighting hard clear through. He sailed into a bitter and angry attack on the men back of the New York primaries and the law as his hammering blow at the Taft forces. After finishing quickly with his talk on big business at the Auditorium the colonel opened fire on the Taft forces, prefacing his bombardment against the primaries as conducted in New York with this:

"Is the nomination to be entrusted to the representatives of political and financial privilege, the representatives of the powers of pillage, the men who, with the backing of big crooked business work through the lowest kind of political machinery and count on the silence or support of every newspaper that is owned or controlled by or directly or indirectly responsive to those great financial powers that work in the darkness?"

The election machinery in New York was used as unscrupulously as in the days of Tweed, he said; names of Roosevelt delegates were left off the ballots, ballots were misprinted, were folded in such a way as to confuse the voters, and in numerous instances were not delivered to polling places until four or five hours after the polls had opened, and in some instances not before twenty minutes or a quarter of an hour before closing.

Our election inspectors were removed whenever it was thought they were not with the machine.

"As I have said, such a primary contest is not merely a farce, but a criminal farce. The result in such a primary are in no shape or way representative of the Republican party and have no binding force whatever upon the Republican party."

The colonel told his audience how eighty election inspectors were removed and anti-Roosevelt men substituted in the Seventh assembly district, where William Halpin is leader, and of how he had to telephone Commissioner Waldo for protection for the voters.

Mr. Roosevelt told of similar tactics in other districts and declared that what had happened in New York is substantially what had happened in Colorado and in Indiana, where the will of the people had been reversed.

In urging the people of Illinois to get passed the direct presidential primary law which is now pending in the legislature, Colonel Roosevelt varied his attack upon President Taft by charging that the Taft lieutenants in obstructing such laws are only following the president's lead in distrust of the people. He quoted President Taft as saying at Concord:

"It is said that I distrust the people because I said that under impulsive action they may do wrong. I do think so. Don't you?" and then continued:

"When the president, with whatever good intentions, keeps dwelling upon his distrust of popular action, his disbelief in action by the people themselves, it is natural that his lieutenants should feel that they have a free hand in trying to thwart the wishes of the people."

The colonel charged that the Taft forces are trying to wreck the party. "The character of the campaign which the chief supporters of Mr. Taft are now waging," he declared, "is such as to make it absolutely impossible that they are striving to create a situation where the Republican party can win at the polls. On the contrary, the method they are resorting to are such as to make it evident that they are deliberately trying to throw away all chance of victory at the polls, provided only they can themselves retain control of the machinery within the party. I do not believe that most of them are even sincerely for Mr. Taft."

"They do me the honor of being bent at all hazards or beating me, partly doubtless for what I personally am, but chiefly because of the forces I symbolize in public life. These men know that they cannot control the Republican party in this is a fair expression of the will of the party. They risk at all hazards to beat me by whatever means are necessary simply because they are bound to prevent the expression of the popular will within the party. Their actions have been such as to make it evident that they prefer to see the Republican party defeated while they still retain control of its machinery than to see it sweep on to victory by becoming again what it was in the days of Lincoln."

"BULL" ANDREWS GIVES UP

Quits Fight and New Mexico Elects Two Senators.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 28.—William H. ("Bull") Andrews, who formerly was a lieutenant of the late Senator Quay in Pennsylvania, and William J. Mills, after a conference with Republican leaders here, consented to withdraw as candidates for United States senator.

Following this surrender, the eighth senatorial ballot was taken and resulted in the election of A. B. Fall, Republican, as New Mexico's first United States senator.

T. B. Catron, Republican, lacked one vote, that of Speaker Baca.

Finally enough members changed their votes to elect T. B. Catron as the second senator, completing the new state's representation in congress.

THINK ROOSEVELT WILL HEAD THIRD TICKET

Politicians Believe His Followers Will Bolt Convention.

Washington, March 28.—That a third party will grow out of the widening breach in the Republican ranks is the conclusion of observers here.

The course pursued by the Roosevelt managers in providing contesting delegations everywhere possible is taken as indicative that the followers of the colonel are prepared to leave the hall in Chicago, hold a convention of their own and place Roosevelt at the head of a third ticket.

Belief that Roosevelt will be the Benjamin F. Butler of 1912 is sustained by the charges of corruption and coercion daily made by Roosevelt's managers against the Taft adherents.

Although Colonel Roosevelt before throwing his hat in the ring said he would heartily support Taft were he nominated, the bitterness and severity of his attacks on the president are enough to nullify any support that he might give a Taft ticket.

It is noted that the colonel has reversed his old precept that factional differences should be fought out within the party and not before the public. His lends weight to the assertion that if Chicago Roosevelt and his friends will form a third party.

PHILIP HICHBORN ENDS HIS LIFE

Kills Himself Because His Wife Eloped.

FIRE D BULLET INTO BRAIN

Wife Fled With Prominent Attorney Nearly a Year Ago and He Was Despondent.

Washington, March 28.—Philip S. Hichborn, son of the late Rear Admiral Hichborn, committed suicide at the home of his sister, Mrs. Paul C. Pearsall, who was Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr.

Mr. Hichborn shot himself through the head with a revolver. His body was found lying on the floor of the bathroom. Near him lay a revolver. He was despondent over the elopement last summer of his wife with Horace L. Wylie, a wealthy Washington attorney.

Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn were last heard of in France.

The tragic death of Mr. Hichborn recalls the elopement of his wife, who is a daughter of former Solicitor General and Mrs. Henry M. Hoyt, and a granddaughter of former Governor Henry M. Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, and also the late Morton McMichael, of Philadelphia. The incident at the time created one of the greatest scandals Washington has ever known, and has been revived from time to time by actions on the part of each of the parties.

Early last year Mrs. Hichborn and Horace L. Wylie, a wealthy clubman, suddenly eloped and the next heard of them they were in Europe. There they resided for some time, traveling under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wise, the initials being the same as Wylie's correct name. Some time afterward, however, Wylie returned to Washington.

When the couple left, Mrs. Hichborn left behind her husband, a son of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hichborn, and her only child, an infant. Wylie was also married, and left behind him his wife and three children.

It was his family, namely, his wife and children, that caused Wylie to return to Washington. He did so under the advice of Mrs. Hichborn, who advocated a trial life with his wife after he had fled with her. It was said at the time that she told him that if after a period of reconciliation he found that he preferred being with her she would again flee with him.

Wylie made the experiment. Try as he might to be the husband and father that he once had been and to resume the position he once held, the temptation Mrs. Hichborn held for him was too strong to be resisted, and so he went back to her.

But before he went he effected a transfer to his wife and children of all his extensive Washington real estate holdings, amounting to something like $200,000, and settled upon her, further, half of all his personal estate, her share coming to more than $100,000.

Then he resigned from those club from which he had not been summarily dropped and, eluding pursuers, went to Europe by way of Boston, where he was joined the first week in last November by Mrs. Hichborn, who after being in retirement, kept her tryst with the man she had chosen by sailing from Montreal later.

On Jan. 8 Mr. Hichborn made application for divorce. As yet no action has been taken on his application, the matter still resting in the District of Columbia courts.

The engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Hichborn was announced on Oct. 8, 1906. This was just two years after she made her debut in Washington society. The couple were married on Dec. 12 of the same year by the late Right Rev. Henry Satterlee, bishop of Washington. The affair attracted considerable attention in Washington society. Until the time of the elopement Mrs. Hichborn it was believed by everyone that their married life was everything that could be desired.

Greater Farm Efficiency

Choosing a Useful Draft Horse

By PROF. A. S. ALEXANDER, Wisconsin College of Agriculture

Stallion of Good Form.

A horse's height is measured in "hands" (4 inches) from the summit of the withers to the ground. A typical, ideal draft horse stands over 16 hands (5 feet 4 inches) and under 18 hands high. Tall, leggy horses, if deficient in weight, width and quality, are undesirable. Such horses often are affected with St. Vitus' dance. Exceptionally tall horses (over 17.2 hands) are difficult to match in pairs and therefore may not meet with ready sale on the market. Such horses are chiefly used for single work or as the middle horses of three horse teams.

A draft horse should weigh 1,600 pounds, or more, in ordinary flesh. Weight in a draft horse is absolutely necessary for the hauling of heavy loads. It enables the horse to derive full benefit from the strength of his muscles, adds to the effect of his motions and gives him a firm grip upon the ground. Heavy weight is a useless burden when not associated with adequately developed frame and muscle. It should be accompanied by vigor and energy.

The form of the draft horse should be broad, deep, massive, evenly proportioned and symmetrical, the entire makeup suggesting great strength and weight. The body should be blocky, and compact, with short, broad, clean, well set legs showing fine skin, large joints and prominent tendons.

The entire appearance of the draft horse should be indicative of strength for heavy hauling. A massive body, set squarely on sturdy legs is required.

Good quality is shown by fine, bright, silky hair; soft, pliable skin; clean, well defined tendons; smooth well developed muscles; strong, smooth bones. It usually is associated with style, spirit and intelligence indicative of "breeding."

A draft horse does most of his hard work at the walking gait. It is therefore important that he should be able to walk fast without tiring. He should be able to walk four miles an hour with a load. To do this the action must be perfectly regular, straight and level. Joints must be quickly and fully flexed; feet must be advanced and set down without deviation from a straight line. Soles of the feet should turn up and show the shoes plainly as the horse moves away from the observer, at both walk and trot. The feet should be lifted quickly, evenly and be set down squarely and firmly.

There should be no "padding," "dishing," or "winging" in or out, cutting or interfering, nor should the fore legs swing out or "roll," or the hind legs be carried too close together or too far apart. In judging of the action the observer must note the movements of each leg and foot, the carriage of the entire body, as the horse walks and trots. Watch closely for lameness. The hocks should be carried well together when in motion. Rolling, or waddling in front is due to too great width of chest. Knee and hock action should both be free and comparatively high. Perfection of action at the walk is of highest importance in the draft horse.

The draft horse should show a vigorous, lively, energetic disposition, yet be docile, tractable and intelligent. He should be neither sluggish, nor irritable, nor excessively nervous.

Noticeable vices, as cribbing, wind sucking, weaving, tail switching, shying, biting, kicking, head shaking, etc., are undesirable. Sluggishness, associated with fat should be avoided, as it induces disease. Stupidity, clumsiness, meanness or excessive nervousness are objectionable and should discount the animal.

The head should be large, proportionate in size to the body and well formed, clean, free from coarseness and irregularities.

Strength may be shown in the head as well as the rest of the body. It should be carried well up and balanced properly upon the neck.

The shoulder of a draft horse should be moderately sloping, smooth and extending well back. A majority of poorly formed draft horses have shoulders which are too steep. Occasionally the shoulders are too sloping. Either extreme in a draft horse is objectionable. Trouble with collars comes from these causes when the horse is doing heavy pulling. The correctly laid shoulder should form a smooth, comfortable bed for the collar. Straight or upright shoulders detract from easy, free action of the forelegs and generally are found associated with upright pasterns. The shoulders should be smoothly and deeply covered with muscles and be free from coarseness, roughness, sores and tumors. The withers should be well covered and moderately high.

The forearm, extending from the elbow to the knee, should be long, wide, heavily muscled and free from coarseness. This portion of the body of the draft horse, together with the lower thigh (gaskin) of the hind leg, cannot be fattened, but is composed chiefly of lean muscle and bone. The muscles should be prominent in front and above and the entire part clean and free from puffiness and coarseness.

The knees should be straight, wide, deep, strongly formed and smooth.

So long as these and other joints are free from puffs, bony growths and meatiness, they cannot well be too large or too strongly developed. Knees should be straight and so set as to perfectly carry the weight of the body. Sprung knees, or "buck knees," bent in the forward direction are as objectionable as those of the reverse type which are known as "calf knees." Examine the knees for blemishes and the cannons for splints close up to the knees. Splints will be likely to cause lameness. Blemishes may indicate tendency to falling.

Crooked or "Sickle" Hock.

The hocks should be ample in size, sound, smooth and symmetrical in shape.

The chest encloses the heart and lungs; it should be roomy in every respect. A narrow, shallow chest denotes poor constitution, lack of endurance and deficient breathing organs. If too wide the action tends to waddling or rolling. A narrow chest and high knee action often go together.

An ample, wide, deep chest denotes vigor, power, strong constitution and easy keeping qualities.

Poor hocks are a common fault in draft horses. It is important to improve this deficiency. To that end breeding animals should have good hocks and for work horses this also is imperative. The hock (not "hind knee") is commonly the seat of some one of such diseases as bone and bog (not "blood") spavin, thoroughbred and curb. These should be avoided. The joint should look and feel firm, hard and with each bone well defined, free from meatiness and of great size. The point of the hock should be prominent, clean and sharp and the tendons under it straight, distinct, but free from bulging.

TRUE TO TEST

Tried in Gettysburg It Has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Gettysburg. Kidney sufferers can hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:

Harry J. Tawney, 9 Steinwehr Ave., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills two years ago and at this time willingly speak in their praise again. My back ached almost constantly and at times I could hardly get around. The kidney secretions gave me much annoyance by their irregularity in passage and I was lame and stiff. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the People's Drug Store and they positively and permanently cured me. I have been in good health ever since. I know of a number of other people who have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and in each case benefit has been received."
